

PharmD 2022 graduates who previously took injection training and currently have their Advanced Method Student Certification (AMSC), you must be a licensed pharmacist and take the CPDPP Refresher Course before you can inject anything but COVID-19 and Influenza vaccines. After completing these two requirements, you will receive Advanced Method Certification (AMC).

We will be holding Refresher Courses in early September, 2022 to meet this requirement for the PharmD 2022 grads who will then be licensed pharmacists. If you are a PharmD 2022 grad taking Injection training for the first time in May, 2022, you will not be required to complete the Refresher Course in September.
